GREEN LINE IS THE FOLD LINE
